The degree program cannot be completed from abroad. Technische Universität (TU) Braunschweig will implement the recommendations made by the Lower Saxony State University Summit on 29th May 2020 and the teaching modes will return to on-campus education, as soon as research and associated political decisions allow this to take place. Until then, a hybrid teaching model will be applied taking the requirements and conditions of individual subjects into consideration. TU Braunschweig intends to hold on-campus events for students where possible, especially for freshmen. Students studying in higher semesters will be offered on-campus events such as laboratory classes, workshops and events with a reduced number of participants.
